

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to take an aggressive political stance is deeply troubling to me. Their ability to do so is, in part, a direct result of the current policies in favor of media consolidation. It is, however also due to a lack of regard for what is truly in the public interest.

I don't think anyone is well served by a corporate elite making decisions about what side people should choose, via the public airwaves. Right or left. This is really short-sighted.

Don't let this happen.

Than you!
